NEWS OF OUR SOLDIERS

Sees Oil Ship Sunk by Submarine

Following are extracts from a letter of William A. Watson, Jr., who is on the Narragansett, now in port at Philadelphia: "I was not in any of that trouble off the coast, but I saw one of the ships which was and which almost went to the bottom. It was filled with oil and when the oil was all pumped out the vessel came to the top. There was a hole in it about fifteen feet in diameter just aft of the bow.

"I think the ship I am on will be a transport, but it seemed for a time that the men higher up did not know what to make it.

"Well, there is some music going on in the 'Y' now, and I'll have to join in."

Carthage Boy Wounded

Carthage, Mo., June 18.—Lawrence Gray, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gray, of this city, is seeing his share of the fighting in France and has been in the "thickest of the battle," if injuries are a criterion. A message received by his parents and his wife here stated that he has been wounded in the arm and leg and is in a hospital behind the lines. The seriousness of his wounds was not given. The message came from the War Department. Gray is a first lieutenant, having received his commission at the first officers' training camp, and was one of the first Carthage men to be sent to France. He has been in the trenches several months.

Lieutenant Gray was twice gassed a few weeks ago and was sent to a hospital. News of that, experience was sent here after he had recovered, and it is apparent that he was immediately returned to the trenches from the fact that he has been shot in the arm and leg.

DISASTROUS DEFEAT OF HUNS NEAR RHEIMS

Reinforced French Armies Hurl Teutons Back Precipitately, Breaking Up Attack in Its Inception.

Paris, June 19.—The attacks of the Germans near Rheims resulted disastrously to them. Hardly had they left their trenches after one of the most terrific bombardments with shells of all calibers, including gas projectiles, ever experienced on the western front, when nearly 40,000 men were faced by the reinforced French armies and literally cut to pieces and forced to fall back precipitately.

Only at one point, to the east of Rheims, did the enemy succeed in penetrating the French line. Here they were ejected almost immediately. The German official communication describes the attack as a demonstration of artillery and mine throwers.

U. S. MAY DECLARE WAR ON TURKEY

Looting of American Missionary Hospital May Form Necessary Provocation for Open Hostilities.

Washington, June 19.—Attack by Turkish troops of the American consulate at Tabriz, Persia, and the looting of an American missionary hospital in that city, reported to the state department today, was believed in some quarters to presage the long-anticipated declaration of the existence of a state of war between the United States and the Ottoman empire. Diplomatic relations between the two governments have been suspended since April 20, 1917, and since that time the relations between the two governments have been short of actual formal enmity.

President Wilson and the state department had not regarded a declaration of a state of war between the United States and Turkey and Bulgaria as necessary or desirable, since there has been no actual collision between American and Turkish or Bulgarian troops.

Provocation Is Furnished

Officials were inclined to believe the sacking of the American hospital, a Presbyterian institution, over the protest of the Spanish consul in charge as representative of American interests, furnished the necessary provocation for open hostilities between America and Turkey.

It was realized reports might show the offenses were not as grave as now reported.

Going Into Army Service

Feeling that it was my patriotic duty to offer my services to the government, I have done so. The President has issued me a commission, which I have accepted. I will soon be subject to call.

I will now ask all persons indebted to me to call and settle. Leaving my work here will necessitate a great sacrifice to myself and family. So I will expect a quick response from the friends who have accepted my services. After July 1 all accounts will be in the hands of a collector.

Respectfully,
